Dr. Brown is a graduate of the Boston Psychoanalytic Institute (BPSI) in both Child & Adult psychoanalysis, supervising child analyst and co-chair of the child analysis programme at BPSI. He is on the Editorial Board of the Psychoanalytic Quarterly and is President of the Boston Group for Psychoanalytic Studies. He is the author of Intersubjective Processes and the Unconscious: An Integration of Freudian, Kleinian and Bionian Perspectives (2011), and co-editor of Growth & Turbulence in the Container/Contained: Bion's Continuing Legacy (L. Brown & H. Levine, 2013) and On Freud's 'Formulations on the Two Principles of Mental Functioning (L. Brown & G. Legorreta, 2016). His new book, Transformational Processes in Clinical Psychoanalysis: Dreaming, Emotions and the Present Moment was published in 2019 by IPA Publications and Routledge. He is the author of many scientific papers dealing with such topics as the Oedipus complex, trauma, countertransference dreams, the analytic setting, and aspects of Bion's work, in addition to autistic spectrum disorders in children and adolescents.
